Ryan Lists Shares on Big Board

Ryan Aeronautical Co. with manufacturing and research facilities located in Torrance and San Diego, Tuesday listed its shares for trading on the New York Stock Exchange. Ryan, one of America's pioneer aircraft and aeronautical equipment manufacturers, will be known on the exchange trading floor by the symbol "RYC".

A listing ceremony at the start of today's trading was attended by Robert C. Jackson, executive vice president and vice chairman of the board of the San Diego aircraft firm, and G. Keith Funston, president of the stock exchange. Other Ryan officials included C. A. Stillwagen, vice president-finance and treasurer, and William Wagner, director of public and employee relations.

A total of 1,721,662 Ryan shares are being listed on the New York Stock Exchange, including 88,845 shares reserved for option.

Since incorporation 28 years ago, Ryan has been engaged primarily in the design, development, manufacture, and sale of aircraft and aeronautical products as a prime contractor to the military services and as both a contractor and subcontractor of components for other companies in the aircraft industry. Major areas of current operation are aircraft and missiles, electronics and power plant components.

Ryan's modern facilities include a new electronics division with well over one-third of a million square feet of floor space in plants in Torrance and in the Kearney Mesa industrial area of San Diego — in addition to over 1,100,000 square feet at its main San Diego aircraft manufacturing plant. Present payroll is in excess of 7800 employees.
